EHCP REPORT #382

Section A: Views, interests, and aspirations

Leo is a 10-year-old boy who enjoys building complex structures with LEGO and has a keen interest in space exploration. He expresses that he likes school when he has a quiet space to work. His aspiration is to learn how to work in a team and eventually pursue his interest in astronomy. His parents hope for Leo to develop the communication skills necessary to build friendships and achieve independence in his daily routines.

Section B: Special educational needs

- 1. Speech, Language and Communication Needs (SLCN): Leo experiences significant difficulties with expressive and receptive language, specifically in processing complex verbal instructions and initiating social interactions with peers.
- 2. Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD): Leo presents with sensory processing differences, a need for high levels of predictability, and challenges with social communication and flexible thinking.

Section C: Health needs

Leo requires a sensory diet to support self-regulation, managed by the school in consultation with an Occupational Therapist. He has no acute medical needs but requires monitoring for sensory overload which can manifest as physical fatigue.

Section E: Outcomes sought

- 1. Communication: Leo will independently use visual aids or verbal prompts to express his needs and feelings in 4 out of 5 social opportunities.
- 2. Social/Emotional: Leo will engage in a structured group activity with one peer for 15 minutes with minimal adult intervention.
- 3. Independence: Leo will follow a visual schedule to complete a three-step classroom task without requiring 1:1 adult prompting.

Section F: Special educational provision

- 1. Speech and Language Therapy: Access to a Speech and Language Therapist (SALT) for 30 minutes per fortnight to deliver targeted interventions.
- 2. Staffing: Access to a Learning Support Assistant (LSA) trained in ASD-specific strategies (e.g., PECS, Social Stories).
- 3. Environment: A workstation in a low-arousal area of the classroom; access to a "calm-down" zone.
